

Presentation Letter

Hello, this is Pedro from Spain. I am 44 and I currently work in INJUVE as a Head of Service, I could tell you many things about me but I'll be quick and I'll give you some relevant information for you to know me a little better.

I live in Madrid and I am a sports and pets lover. I have got a degree in psychology and I worked with young people with problems for many years.

As an Injuve worker, I accepted the challenge of participating as a board candidate, so I have had to make an extra effort in my daily work catching up, which will surely be worth it.

Among my main skills are teamwork, resilience, and the resolution of difficult problems, because I am able to think calmly in stressful moments. I never surrender, that is something I've learned in a lifetime of martial arts practice.

I have always thought that attitude is more important than aptitude and the lack of knowledge that you may initially have can be made up for by the enthusiasm, motivation, and experience that you have, having overcome similar challenges and of the latter,

Among my tools in addition to my Knowledge in Spanish and English, I am learning French, I study the second year of chemical engineering, and I use different office packages daily.

Regarding what I like to read, psychology and books related to human behavior are among my favorites. I especially like science fiction cinema and since we all have a dark side, so does Steven Seagal.

I have tried to make a pleasant presentation of my daily life with data that are not available in the candidacy that has been given to everyone

For all of the above is why I ask you for the opportunity to work with enthusiasm and motivation in this joint project dedicated to young people, because age is not a chronological question but a question of attitude towards life, and no one is born knowing. If experience were decisive, young people would never access positions of responsibility and I am sure that EYCA defends the opposite.
